

Re: Migration from Exchange 2000 to 2003

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Exchange/microsoft.public.exchange.admin/2006-01/msg02738.html>

- From: Jethro <jethro374@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 24 Jan 2006 04:41:04 -0800
-

Thanks for the reply.

I can ping either box from the other one, both by FQDN and by IP. I can telnet to both from the other. When I telnet to the EX 2003 machine and send an email it also hangs in the queue. What's odd is I haven't done anything to the machine and it's working fine as of right now. Later today it may not be.

"Nuevo" <imaneophyte@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in <news:#Chmu0EIGHA.2320@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>:

- > I'd suggest you test basic network connectivity and name resolution
- > between both boxes. Can you ping by hostname and domain name from both
- > boxes? Can you telnet to port 25 between both boxes?
- >
- > Nue
- > "Jethro" <jethro374@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
- > <news:Xns975485C1854F8jethro374hotmailcom@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
- >> I have added an Exchange 2003 server to an existing Exchange 2000
- >> environment. Mail2 is the Ex 2000 server and mail3 is the new 2003
- >> server.
- >>
- >> I have both running to test the migration and have run into the
- >> following problem.
- >>
- >> Mail sent from mailboxes on the EX2003 server will hang in the queue.
- >> This is in intermittent issue. Sometimes the mail will be delivered,
- >> sometimes it just hangs until an NDR is generated.
- >>
- >> The event viewer on mail3 (Exchange 2003) shows an event id 977 with
- >> the following text Following connector fails to connect to its target
- >> bridge head. CN=Internet Mail Service
- >> (MAIL2),CN=Connections,CN=CSUNET,CN=Routing
- >> Groups,CN=CSUNET,CN=Administrative Groups,CN=CSU,CN=Microsoft
- >> Exchange,CN=Services,CN=Configuration,DC=csuniv,DC=edu
- >>
- >> Then it will show Event ID 978 with

Re: Migration from Exchange 2000 to 2003

>> Following connector now is ok to connect to its target bridge head.
>> CN=Internet Mail Service (MAIL2),CN=Connections,CN=CSUNET,CN=Routing
>> Groups,CN=CSUNET,CN=Administrative Groups,CN=CSU,CN=Microsoft
>> Exchange,CN=Services,CN=Configuration,DC=csuniv,DC=edu
>>
>> The mail is still stuck in the queue. Any ideas?
>
>
>

• References:

- ◆ Migration from Exchange 2000 to 2003
 - ◇ From: Jethro
 - ◆ Re: Migration from Exchange 2000 to 2003
 - ◇ From: Nuevo
-
- Prev by Date: Many SMTP Error messages in Event Viewer
 - Next by Date: Re: Expiration Timeout
 - Previous by thread: Re: Migration from Exchange 2000 to 2003
 - Next by thread: Help with System Attendant
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread