

Re: OWA Login

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Exchange/microsoft.public.exchange.clients/2004-08/0155.html>

From: Henrik Walther [MVP] (spam_at_exchange-faq.dk)

Date: 08/05/04

Date: Fri, 6 Aug 2004 00:34:21 +0200

Joe wrote:

> Hello,

>

> We were using Exchange 2003 on Windows 2000 Server and > were able to logon to OWA using a username only on the > forms based owa login page. Now that we upgraded to

> Windows Server 2003, users must type their entire e-mail > address. Any ideas on how to change it back or why it > was changed in IIS 6.0 to require this? Thanks!

When using FBA you can also login using the domain\username format, but if you insist on being able to login simply by typing username, you can edit the Logon.asp file to include your AD domains NetBIOS name, see below MS KB for further details:

820378 – Outlook Web Access session unexpectedly quits when forms-based authentication is used:

<http://support.microsoft.com/default.aspx?kbid=820378&product=exch2003>

--

Henrik Walther
Exchange MVP
Exchange-faq.dk
MSExchange.org