I have created a few outlook 2003 email template (*.oft) files that I would like all our users to be able to use.

I have them accessible through a toolbar within my version of outlook, which I can just click and choose the desired template.

I would like to roll this out to every version of Outlook in our company.

I have checked the registry for changes since I created the toolbar, but can't find any.

Does anybody know a simple way to do this (ie Login script, Group Policy, Regedit, Exchange Server)??

Thanks in Advance

Mark
