

Re: Exchange 5.5 and relaying

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Exchange/microsoft.public.exchange.misc/2004-08/0599.html>

From: Ros (newspostalias_at_mail.anonymizer.com)

Date: 08/19/04

Date: Thu, 19 Aug 2004 11:31:28 +0200

Yes, I have the same problem with Exchange 5.5 SP4. How block "The recipient name is not recognized" spam senders?

"Russ" <anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:8c1401c48560$35324ca0$a601280a@phx.gbl...

>I have an exchange 5.5 sp4 server that appears to be > relaying mail. I've looked up information on preventing > Exchange 5.5 from being an open relay and configured it > accordingly. I've tested it with abuse.net manually > through telnet and it says it's not an open relay, but > when I look at the outgoing mail queue in the IMS there is > a bunch of mail in there that is definitely not business > related. The ones that are still in the queue are there > because of being host unreachable. I don't know how many > are actually going through. Does anybody have any > suggestions?