

Re: Reinstall Exchange 2003 server

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Exchange/microsoft.public.exchange.setup/2004-04/1588.html>

From: Patrick Genova [MSFT] (pgenova_at_online.microsoft.com)

Date: 04/29/04

Date: Thu, 29 Apr 2004 07:24:25 -0400

Hi Patrick,

This all depends on how what you are doing with that Server. If you uninstalled the Server and removed it from the Org and it no longer shows in AD then you can install it as if it were a new install and name it anything you wish. But if you are just doing a reinstall it will use the same names as before. If you have removed Exchange from the server but it still shows in AD you will have to manually clean AD before doing anything.

--

Patrick Genova

pgenova@online.microsoft.com

Please do not send mail directly to this alias. This alias is for Newsgroup purposes only.

This posting is provided "AS IS" with no warranties, and confers no rights. "Patrick" <anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:0DE8A9CD-C3B1-4BCF-94D0-7B72E21D3766@microsoft.com...

> Dear all,

>

> I setup the first exchange2k3 server (mail01) but found some problems. I decide to resetup the whole server.

>

> Before that, I setup another exchange2k3 server (mail02), and move all mailbox from mail01 to mail02.

>

> Right now, the move mailbox process completed, I want to resetup the mail01 server. I know there are some record stored in Active Directory. Should I use the same computer name (mail01) or use another computer name, say mail03?

>

> Any recommendation?

>

> Thanks in advanced.

>

> Patrick

>