I have a problem with exchange message journaling.

Exchange is set to archive all mail to a AD contact with an external address so all mail is routed out.

All the internal mail is being sent to a 3rd party application for logging and reporting but all the mail has from <> in the header instead of the original senders email address.

Does anyone know if it is possible to force exchange to send the mail as the original sender?

The correct From: <user@xxxxxxxxxx> is lower down in the header thread but the top just says From <>

Thanks
