

Re: Cant login to OWA in windows XP

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Exchange/microsoft.public.exchange2000.clients/2004-03/0182.html>

From: Sim (anonymous_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 03/11/04

Date: Thu, 11 Mar 2004 02:14:07 -0800

Actually the first time you logon it doesnt show the domain name just the username but the second time that you enter your correct password it already shows domainname\username. I could not go in even how much I try. The funny thing is when I try to transfer to the other computer running windows 2000 or windows 98 I can login to OWA.

>-----Original Message-----

>What user name? Try DOMAIN\USERNAME WinXP doesn't show you the Domain

>box for authentication.

>

>mis wrote:

>> When I try to connect to the internet at home unsing WAP

>> and logon to

>> OWA the "Enter Network Password" in windows XP window >> opens (my password is >> already typed in). No matter what I click on ok, the >> window keeps popping back up.

>> I double check my password and it was correct. I try

enter

>> my password again and click >> of for about five times but it won't connect and then I >> get "Access Denied" in my internet

>>

>> explorer browser. But the funny thing is there is that >> when I try to used other computer >> in my house which is running windows 98 & windows 2000 I >> can logon to OWA flawlessly.

>> Does any one already run this king of problem?Thanks in >> advance....

>

>

>.

>