Well I moved information store from Default Exchange Installation ( C:\exchsrvr\MDBDATA I guess.....) to D:\exchsrvr root.....no subfolder.

My log files are still in same original C drive location. The place where installation has put.

Only the change I did was for priv and pub information store DAT files.

When I gave the back up job from windows backup tool, it gave me this error message.

Do I missed anything.....?

Last time, I had C drive run out of space and so I moved the DAT files, but I did not do anything to log files.

Last time before I moved the DAT files, I took the backup ( with all the default installation paths ) – backup went smooth and I did not encounter any problem. It took the back and cleared the log files.....I guess everything was in same directory....

But, now, my exchange is working fine.....very perfect, but I cannot do backup....

Does DAT files and Log files needs to go the same directory structure as it was before in C Drive..... ?

Do I have to put both in the same directory ? Like D:\exchsrvr\MDBDATA ???

I'm lost here.....

Help !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

thx

Below are the log files
