Hi,

1. Does this problem only occur on Windows XP clients?
2. Do all clients log on OWA on the same server?
3. Does this problem only occur on external client?

Based on my experience, it should be a server site problem regarding IIS permission settings. Please have a look at the following KBs:

822699 "Outlook Web Access was unable to check the spelling on this item due to

Also, I'd recommend you to try the following steps to fix this issue:

1. Open IIS Manager
2. Open the Properties for the /Exchweb virtual directory
3. Click the Directory Security tab
4. Click Settings next to Anonymous Access & Authentication Settings
5. Check Integrated Authentication, Click OK.
6. Click Apply
7. If prompted, Click Select All on the sub tree folders window, Click OK
8. Go back into Anonymous Access & Authentication Settings
9. Uncheck Integrated Authentication, Click OK
10. Click OK to exit /Exchweb properties

Test the OWA

Hope the info helps. If anything is unclear, please feel free to let me know.
