

microsoft.public.fox.helpwanted: OT: Webhosting for FoxPro freeware?

OT: Webhosting for FoxPro freeware?

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Fox/microsoft.public.fox.helpwanted/2005-03/0090.html>

From: Dennis Allen (dennis_at_dennisallen.com)

Date: 03/15/05

Date: Tue, 15 Mar 2005 15:45:25 -0500

Hi. Off Topic, but I hope someone here could help.

Long ago I turned some of my FoxPro applications into freeware. Offered them on my web site as self-extracting executables. Last fall my isp stopped allowing exe files on my web site. Had to convert them back to zip files.

I've been looking at these $4.99/month web hosting packages. The first one I called told me they wouldn't allow exe files. I would have to get a dedicated service. I'm not going to pay $100/month to host only 50Meg of freeware.

I see other people offering freeware and FoxPro freeware in exe files. How are they doing it? Any advice would be appreciated...Dennis