Never seen or heard of FP stripping tags during publishing

| Stefan,

| Well, very strange, I have never previously had any problem whatsoever to | see any images of any kind. On our own site, I can see the pictures on the | particular page, as well as on all other oictures without problem. I've
| also now compared the IE6 setup on this other system I just used and it's | IE6 setup is identical to my own (that is, default settings in the | IE6/Internet options/Advanced tab) inclusive the Multimedia Option/Show
| Pictures that is ticked.

| I've also, as I mentioned before, tested both with and without the firewall,
| but i doesn't make any difference, and theretoo, the other system is also
| using the same firewall, and there the pictures come up teh way they should.

| And why would the IE6/View/Source, not show the correct code? The would not
| have anything to do with the picture being shown, or ...

| Just wondering if you, or anybody else, experienced this problem?

| Once again - many thanks!

| Best regards,

| Eric Green
