Some things will work without the FP extensions. But in my experience, many problems occur when you download from your remote site. You lose your Navigation hierarchy, and thus what is dependent on it.

I maintain some simple sites for non-profits and I have to keep a copy of what I uploaded to the remote. I then make a second copy of this copy to modify. In case I mess up and want to get back to the original I can use my first copy. I cannot download from my remote site without things being messed up.
