No – That wasn't it – but I think I am getting closer.

It turns out that it is only my profile that is causing this problem. I can log on to my workstation with a different username, and get FP2k to work. Short of deleting my profile, is there something I can clean out of my profile to get it working?

So far, I have re-installed FP, deleted my history from IE, but still have the problem.

I tried to re-name my profile, but am unable to. "Write protected/in use" error.

Thanks,

Tom C
