Yes....

as suggested look at the php section at www.hotscripts.com they have a couple of free carts that do not need databases.... but you have to understand that your specified requirements really limit your choices!

imo.... if your host is wanting to double your cost for a simple mysql database..... YOU NEED A NEW HOST!!!!

tell them to go stuff a vegamite sandwich..... there are thousands of hosting companies that offer this (database files that is) as a part of their very inexpensive fees.

Best to you.....
