

Re: Viewing Cached Items ISA 2004

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/ISA/microsoft.public.isa/2005-06/msg00060.html>

- From: "Tristan Kington [MSFT]" <tristank@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 3 Jun 2005 16:15:09 +1000
-

Hi,

Glad you found a possible fix.

You can exclude certain items from being cached (or specify more aggressive updates, or more aggressive caching, and so on) using cache policy rules.

--

<http://blogs.technet.com/tristank/>

--

This post is provided "AS-IS", and confers no warranty.

"lforbes" <lforbes@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message <news:666E48A2-E031-4B97-80F6-6F2A95B9F62B@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

> Hi,

>

> Turns out it was ISA caching. I disabled caching and it works fine now.

> Not

> the route I wanted to take but at least the pages are updating instantly > instead of hours later. I am not sure why the caching rules didn't work.

>

> Cheers,

>

> Lara

>

> "lforbes" wrote:

>

>> Hi,

>>

>> I run ISA 2004 Server (no service pack). I have an Internal Website

>> (Apache)

>> that is published in ISA and has an 'external' DNS name. I want to use >> this

>> 'external' DNS name to access the website both internally and externally.

>> It

>> works just fine until a page is updated. The page, if viewed with the >> local

>> DNS or Netbios name, updates fine. However, if viewed by the external

Re: Viewing Cached Items ISA 2004

>> name
>> doesn't seem to update.
>>
>> It is obviously a caching issue. I have created a Domain Name set and an
>> URL
>> Set and setup a cache rule Not to cache the external DNS name. eg.
>> http://*.myorg.mydomain.ca/
>>
>> This hasn't made any difference. If I view the page, edit it, and view it >> again it doesn't change. It is not a browser caching issue because it is >> the >> same with either Mozilla or IE.
>>
>> With Proxy 2.0 I could just look in the urlcache folder and view the >> files.
>> I have "deleted" and recreated the ISA Cache file just to make sure any >> residue was gone. However, it still seems to be caching the pages.
>>
>> Phillip has responded here and suggested it may be a DNS issue. However,
>> I
>> use the internal DNS name mydomain.local and cannot seem to add a DNS >> alias
>> with any other extension.
>>
>> Any other ideas? Is there any tool to view the inside of the cache to >> see
>> if it is actually still caching it?
>>
>> Thanks
>>
>> Lara

• Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: Viewing Cached Items ISA 2004
◇ From: lforbes

• References:

- ◆ Viewing Cached Items ISA 2004
◇ From: lforbes
- ◆ RE: Viewing Cached Items ISA 2004
◇ From: lforbes

- Prev by Date: Re: Captive Portal?
- Next by Date: Re: access internet by isa server
- Previous by thread: RE: Viewing Cached Items ISA 2004
- Next by thread: Re: Viewing Cached Items ISA 2004

- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread