

Re: ASP / SQLServer connection

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Internet-Server/microsoft.public.inetserver.asp.general/2004-10/0446.html>

From: Dan Guzman (guzmanda_at_nospam-online.sbcglobal.net)

Date: 10/09/04

Date: Sat, 9 Oct 2004 09:35:56 -0500

Your connection string uses SQL authentication but the error message looks like Windows authentication was attempted. Did you specify SQL authentication or Windows authentication in your ODBC setup? Is your SQL Server configured to allow both SQL and Windows authentication?

Also, note that you should never use 'sa' for application database connections and you may get uninvited guests with a blank 'sa' password.

--

Hope this helps.

Dan Guzman

SQL Server MVP

"Peter Morris" <nospam.ple@se> wrote in message

news:RmS9d.5432$xb.1658@text.news.blueyonder.co.uk...

> Hi, I'm having trouble connecting to SQLServer in my ASP program.

>

> here's the code

>

> <%

> dim objConnection, ObjRecorSet, strConnection, strOut, objCmd, > objParameters

> Set objConnection = Server.CreateObject ("ADODB.Connection")

> strConnection = "DSN=SQL_Tracker;Database=Tracker;UID=sa;PWD=";

> objConnection.Open strConnection

> ...

> %>

>

> I'm getting this error on the line that opens the connection.

>

> Error Type:

> Microsoft OLE DB Provider for ODBC Drivers (0x80040E4D)

> [Microsoft][ODBC SQL Server Driver][SQL Server]Login failed for user

> 'HOME\IUSR_HOME'.

> /Tracker/list_team.asp, line 11

>

>

> Notes:

>

> I've set up the DSN called 'SQL_Tracker' in my ODBC settings.

> When I use the Test Connection button it's successful.

>

> The SQL Server is running on my own computer, and so I have > full DBA rights on it

>

Re: ASP / SQLServer connection

microsoft.public.inetserver.asp.general: Re: ASP / SQLServer connection > any ideas what's wrong?

>