

Yet another request to force MS's brain dead SMTP service to process it's queue

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Internet-Server/microsoft.public.inetserver.iis.smtp_nttp/2004-07/0056.html

From: John Smith (someone_at_microsoft.com)

Date: 07/08/04

Date: Thu, 8 Jul 2004 00:26:34 -0700

I SMTP relay into an exchange server. Something magical happened sometime over the holiday weekend and now I have 4,000 stupid NDR emails along with some actual valid emails sitting in my SMTP queue. I yanked all the delivery times down to 1 minute and squashed all connection timeouts to 1 minute yet I sit here an hour later waiting for this stupid SMTP server to make it through the queue. What else is there to get this pile of garbage to respond?

"Industrial strength SMTP server" my patootie.

Timothy A. Anderson

tima at predator dash software dot com