

IIS Performance Extremely Slow

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Internet-Server/microsoft.public.inetserver.iis/2004-07/0919.html>

From: doug (anonymous_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 07/09/04

Date: Fri, 9 Jul 2004 11:15:01 -0700

First off, I would never install IIS on a domain controller, but that is beside the point.

I would suggest you assign the website one of the internal IPs and see if that helps. Then, forward port 80 on your firewall/router to the internal ip.

Do you have problems accessing the site from both internal and external clients?

doug

>-----Original Message-----

>I'm not sure if my problem is related to IIS or Windows 2003 Server, but I'm having a serious issue with pages loading extremely slow. I'll run down the setup, its not complicated at all.

>

>I have a 2003 Server box with top of the line hardware. The box is a domain controller, DNS server, DHCP Server and IIS 6 web server and its on a full T1 connection.

>

>IIS 6 was installed with default settings and I'm not using host headers. I have the test website assigned to one of the static public IPs. I have two network cards in the machine.

>

>Network card #1 is setup with a static private IP that is plugged into the switch for the LAN.

>Network card #2 is setup with roughly a dozen static public IPs.

>

>The web pages will load eventually, but it takes a very long time to do so. All the web pages are html. I've encountered people having problems with asp and so forth, but I do not use any asp, just html.

>

>Any leads as to why there would be a problem with slow microsoft.public.inetserver.iis: IIS Performance Extremely Slow serving I would greatly appreciate it.

>
>