

Re: IIS logging on remote resource

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Internet-Server/microsoft.public.inetserver.iis/2004-08/0895.html>

---

From: luca (luca.l\_at\_lunet.it)

Date: 08/12/04

Date: Thu, 12 Aug 2004 08:20:12 +0200

Thanks for your reply, but I just visited that link and it's still don't work.

The article say:

If the remote share does not allow your IIS server to write the log file to the designated share after restarting the server, you might need to adjust the Windows security groups and security policies on the remote machine to enable anonymous access.

Which security groups and security policies I need to adjust?

:~)

Luca

"Andrey P" <andrey@paramonov.pp.ru> ha scritto nel messaggio news:10hl45q48cepc9d@news.supernews.com...

> luca wrote:

>

>> Hi to all,

>>

>> I'd like to configure IIS6.0 to store the log in a remote share.

>> The IIS machine and Torage machine aren't the same domain.

>>

>> I create in every machine the same IUSR_machine account, I create a folder >> and share it with the righth privileges, I think.

>> But this not work...this not work also if I share the folder to everyone >> with full control.

>>

>> Event viewer of IIS machine show me an error indicate that it couldn't >> create log file on \\192.168.1.1\shareLog etc.

>>

>> Thanks to everybody. :~)

>>

>>

>>

>

microsoft.public.inetserver.iis: Re: IIS logging on remote resource

>

> Take a look at the following URLs:

>

>

> http://msdn.microsoft.com/library/default.asp?url=/library/en-us/iissdk/iis/remote\_logging\_on\_iis.asp

>

> <http://www.microsoft.com/resources/documentation/WindowsServ/2003/standard/proddocs/en-us/Default.asp?url=/re>

>

> -Andrey