

Re: Contents of a Directory

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Internet-Server/microsoft.public.inetserver.iis/2004-12/0275.html>

From: Tom Kaminski [MVP] ((A_at_T))

Date: 12/02/04

Date: Thu, 2 Dec 2004 14:34:54 -0500

"Steven Livolsi" <steven.livolsi@ngc.com> wrote in message
news:O6HEqJJ2EHA.204@TK2MSFTNGP10.phx.gbl...

> Thanks.

>

> I tried using the File System Objects in my java script but it looks like > the java script code bombed.

>

> It bombed on the statement:

>

> fso = new ActiveXObject("Scripting.FileSystemObject");

>

> If I comment out the above statement, my java script function does not bomb.

>

> Is there a setting or something I need to do with my windows 2003 IIS sever?

> Is there an include file I need?

>

> My java script is:

>

> <script language=javascript>

>

> function select_change()

> {

> .

> .

> .

> var fso;

> fso = new ActiveXObject("Scripting.FileSystemObject");

> .

> .

> .

> }

>

> </script>

>

microsoft.public.inetserver.iis: Re: Contents of a Directory

You're trying to run this client-side? You can't use the FileSystemObject in client-side browser code as that would be a security breach. You would have to wrap it in a custom ActiveX and sign it.