

Re: How to get client certificate from IIS?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Internet-Server/microsoft.public.inetserver.iis/2005-01/1056.html>

From: Egbert Nierop \ (MVP for IIS\) (egbert_nierop_at_nospam.invalid)

Date: 01/15/05

Date: Sat, 15 Jan 2005 23:13:03 +0100

Did you set IIS as shown in picture?
If you don't it won't give you certificates.

Regards,

--

compatible web farm Session replacement for Asp and Asp.Net

http://www.nieropwebconsult.nl/asp_session_manager.htm

"Jona Gold" <me@lurking.com> wrote in message

news:O8KtJs%23EHA.3616@TK2MSFTNGP11.phx.gbl...

>I have a CGI application that should be able to read and store client >certificates. With CGI I see no way to do it, so I thought about >redirecting client to an ASP page where I have access to the >Request.ClientCertificate("Certificate") variable.

>

> I wasn't able to get this variable with server-side JScript on IIS 5.1, > and in VBScript it doesn't work as described in documentation

> (<http://support.microsoft.com/kb/216829/EN-US/>, > http://msdn.microsoft.com/library/default.asp?url=/library/en-us/iissdk/iis/ref_vbom_regoccc.as > Provided examples are non-functional.

>

> I must be missing a lot as it looks I'm the only one complaining about it.

> Please give me a hint.

>

> Regards,

> Karel Miklav

• image/png attachment: client_certificates.PNG