

Re: IIS6 APS Thread Use

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Internet-Server/microsoft.public.inetserver.iis/2005-02/0148.html>

---

From: Egbert Nierop \ (MVP for IIS\ ) (egbert_nierop_at_nospam.invalid)

Date: 02/01/05

Date: Tue, 1 Feb 2005 09:52:40 +0100

"AIMTech" <AIMTech@newsgroups.nospam> wrote in message news:OWzbc97BFHA.2380@tk2msftngp13.phx.gbl...

> Thanks for the reply.

>

> For testing IIS6 is configured to have 20 ASP threads and MACT is > configured

> to have 50 concurrent users.

>

> *The COM application *is* multi-threaded – I was giving an extreme example*

b.tw. can you define what is, in your case, your COM application?

How do you use it in IIS?

> with it settling on using a single thread. With 50 concurrent users the > number of ASP threads in use can be between 1 and all 20 but it tends to > use

> the lower number.

>

> I just don't understand why, if there are threads available to IIS why it > does not use them?

>

> Thanks

>

> -----