

Re: Indexing a NAS share

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Internet-Server/microsoft.public.inetsrv.indexserver/2005-01/0019.html>

From: Dan (dbauhaus_at_coveonospam.com)

Date: 01/07/05

Date: Fri, 7 Jan 2005 12:24:37 -0800

You could also use off the shelf search software. We have many customers successfully searching content on NAS's and SAN's. You can download our free 5000 document Coveo Enterprise Search from our site.

Regards, Dan

"Tim" <tmandrews@gmail.com> wrote in message news:1104831739.178258.225550@c13g2000cwb.googlegroups.com...
> I've written a web application for a client which relies on Index > Server for it's search. Since writing this I've discovered that the > entire web application (including the document repository that we need > to search) is to be stored on a NAS. Having investigated this a little,
> I was led to believe that it would be possible to index the NAS as a > network share, however, after setting this up the search returns no > results – both through the web app and also through MMC.
>
> Is this actually possible or have I been deceived? If so what do I need > to do to get it working?
>
> Kind Regards,
>
> Tim
>