I have tried these solutions, and the tools do nothing: I still have duplicate calendar entries.

Plus, for added fun, I can't delete any entry, because they will just come back. And when someone updates a meeting, it comes in as a new meeting, not an update to the existing one. And it's all down to Entourage instead of Outlook. And my calendar is this way permanently, now: I have stopped using it, but my calendar has been permanently affected.

I have to say that Entourage is, quite simply, a nightmare. It has made my calendar unusable. IT is having to delete my Exchange account and create a new one, because they can't fix the "unkillable" meetings in my calendar. And having brought a Mac app into this PC shop I'm in, they're not really going to go through any hoops to make Entourage work, if there's something there that has to be done. Entourage should just silently work exactly as Outlook does, and if it doesn't, it's irredeemably broken until it does.

It was the only reason I updated Office, to get Entourage/Exchange/iCal integration, and it's the most broken, data-ruining feature. Not at all happy, that's me.
