Please comply with Patrick's request for the log – he & his folks have the juice to analyze it:–) On a more speculative note...

Imacs shipped with either 512 MB or 1 GB RAM. Unless that system has been upgraded it's entirely possible that you're running into a memory problem.

Permissions are repaired every time Apple issues a software update. So last week, if I am not mistaken. The computer is a 20" Aluminum iMac Intel Core 2 Duo, with a fresh install of Microsoft Office '08. As I said before, all software Apple and Microsoft are the most current and updated to the latest.

I will most certainly take your advice and switch the AutoRecover back to 10 minutes as you no doubt have way more experience in this area. Played around with Numbers this afternoon, as it can import/export in Excel. Has anyone heard about this product good or bad?
