I looked it up in the manual for excel and it warns you about this problem yet doesn't come up with a solution, surely if they know people want to do this, they'd offer an option to wouldn't they!?

I assume by "manual" you mean XL Help.

Since you're using XL08, you have an excellent method of helping your fellow users. If you've enabled On-line Help, you can click the "Somewhat" button at the bottom of the topic, and suggest that they offer an example solution. That may then at some point end up being incorporated into on-line Help!
