

Re: Typing delay in Excel 2008

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Mac/microsoft.public.mac.office.excel/2008-09/msg00154.html>

- From: Pat McMillan <patmcmil@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 11 Sep 2008 09:17:12 -0700
-

Are you saying that this happens when your machine is disconnected from your home or business network? If so, I would love to get more information from you (some sample system profiles and possibly some Excel/Office preference files).

If it only happens when your machines are connected to your local area network, can you please check to see if this might be the problem (from a separate post):

One customer on this forum suggested that he was able to solve the problem by cleaning up the DNS server lookup database on his company's DNS server. Please see the last post in this thread:

<http://www.officeformac.com/ProductForums/Excel/1735>

Thanks,

Pat
patmcmil@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx

On 9/11/08 7:35 AM, in article 59b58d03.2@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx, "Grant" <Grant> wrote:

I have the exact same situation. Clean (brand new in fact) machines that have Office 2008 Standard installed and when creating a new brand new file from Excel (all updates run up to 12.1.2) we are experiencing the same problem. I also have seen this all over the internet. I have experimented with local vs. network files, new files, old files, nothing seems to matter. It is not on all of the machines, but new users, new OS installs, complete reinstalls of Office 2008 have not solved this problem. These are not large files and the problem seems system wide.

—
Pat McMillan
Macintosh Business Unit

Re: Typing delay in Excel 2008

Microsoft Corp.

This posting is provided ³AS IS² with no warranties, and confers no rights.

.