

Re: Why still asking to save normal?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Mac/microsoft.public.mac.office.word/2005-06/msg00550.html>

- From: kevs <studiok4485@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 19 Jun 2005 20:42:00 -0700
-

Thanks again Paul.

Clive , I do have that unchecked. Yes still get the question after trying to restart sometimes.

Honestly, I still don't understand it, really -- but as Paul points out -- it is less. It would be nice to have eliminated altogether.

On 6/19/05 7:27 PM, in article BEDB77A9.A4632%berkowitz@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx, "Paul Berkowitz" <berkowitz@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

- > Well, the difference is that in Word X, if you had that pref on, you got
- > asked to save Normal every single time you quit, even the 97% of the time
- > when you hadn't changed anything nor had been invaded by a whatever. The
- > reason was that the checking for changes in contacts in the Office
- > (Entourage) Address Book modified the AutoText settings in Normal template,
- > every time, even if you hadn't changed anything in contacts either. Now it
- > doesn't. So you don't get asked so often.

OS 10.4.1
Office 2004

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Why still asking to save normal?
 - ◇ From: Daiya Mitchell
 - References:
 - ◆ Why still asking to save normal?

Re: Why still asking to save normal?

◇ From: kevs

◆ Re: Why still asking to save normal?

◇ From: Clive Huggan

◆ Re: Why still asking to save normal?

◇ From: Paul Berkowitz

- Prev by Date: Re: Why still asking to save normal?
- Next by Date: Re: Why still asking to save normal?
- Previous by thread: Re: Why still asking to save normal?
- Next by thread: Re: Why still asking to save normal?
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread