hi.

i wanted to ask you guys for help.

because these two computers had same office cd key, somehow office blocked off the network. (i heard it happened before to my friends, but fortunately, they didnt live together, so it didnt bother them much) so i uninstalled the office, on both of em in face, and installed it again with diff cd keys. but it still doesnt work..

so here is description of wat happens:

only one computer gets to go online. everytime i reset my wireless router, the first computer to access the internet keeps the internet until i reset the router again...

can someone please help??

thanks
