

I had same problem – but it wasn't the Office upgrade – the problem was 10.4.7

I had same problem – but it wasn't the Office upgrade – the problem was 10.4.7

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Mac/microsoft.public.mac.office/2006-07/msg00006.html>

- From: smeister@xxxxxxx
 - Date: 3 Jul 2006 22:39:27 -0700
-

To all:

One of the VPs at Microsoft responded to a similar complaint elsewhere and speculated it might be "Apple's" problem.

I checked the other Macs in my office. None at 10.4.6 and below were having this problem.

So I reinstalled the system software from the install disk, which contained version 10.4.4.

After the installation, Word and Excel worked fine – upgrade and all.

I'm staying at 10.4.4 until I hear that Redmond and Cupertino have reconciled the two upgrades.

Best regards,

Dave Smith
Kirkland, WA

.