

Re: Love the idea but need a little help

---

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Mac/microsoft.public.mac.office/2006-09/msg00045.html>

---

- From: "CyberTaz" <typegeneral taz1ATcomcastdotnet>
  - Date: Thu, 7 Sep 2006 15:24:58 -0400
-

If you're referring to Windows XP Professional X64 you're in the wrong place – this is the Mac Office newsgroup.

Not that you aren't welcome here, but you will probably get better results if you start at;

<http://www.microsoft.com/windowsxp/support/default.aspx>

HTH |:>)

Bob Jones

[MVP] Office:Mac

"warlockjmn" <warlockjmn@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:C2FB4142-AEA4-4E8B-9FFC-B0E34BA1076C@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

We recently, and finally, installed the x64 bit OS. And are very excited on the capabilities that it will allow us to do. After installing we found a few problems that I came to find out are general problems with x64. I have scoured the internet and extended64.com/amd64.com/microsoft tech articles/ to no resolution. I hope the MVP's can direct me to a resolution. I don't want to have to call and use up one of my 5 non-critical system problems through Microsoft partners.

My first problem is of course NOT ONE company supports wireless adapters. I have tried every combination recommended by other users for certain wireless adapters using certain drivers; to no avail. So far we have tried three different adapters per recommendations of other users. Belkin/ Netgear (yuck!) / Linksys (double yuck) Do you have any recommendations for any wireless adapter internal or USB that will work in the x64 environment?

Second, we are using the Asus P5WD2 Premium MOBO, and I have downloaded the x64 bit drivers for the onboard sound card. But I am still getting a warning for the digital sound bus, and no sound is coming out. Any ideas on this??? I tried calling Asus tech support but ironically they were having phone problems in tech support (lol)

Re: Love the idea but need a little help

Finally, and really the most important because the other two we can get around to but this is what is really needed out of this computer. We installed the x64 general hp drivers for printers. When we test print we are getting garble. I am about to go seriously take a look at that problem and have not contacted HP yet, but since i was already here i was wondering what you guys think about this. Am i missing something?

At the very least i need the printers to work, if thats ok i will switch the network adapters to lan and yell at ASUS for there crappy drivers.. THANKS GUYS you have always been a help in the past in expert chat zone.

—
expert chat zone regular to help troubleshoot your products and Microsoft Partner