Microsoft Suck They Crnt even Programme There Software, All Media Centre Is One Extra Programme thats full of crap and no good to anyone, i bourght a laptop with media centre and i can not connect to a server because it wont work on a domain because the function is disabled just because they wont to make more money theres no wounder people are moving to linux they can programme MICROSOFT SUCK

U Suck! U crnt even find the right newsgroup to complain in.

This is a newsgroup dedicated to Microsoft applications for Macintosh.

Windows Media Player Edition doesn't connect to a domain because it is a product intended for home use, and domains are inherently intended for business use.

An argument could be made that the Home Edition & Media Edition are sold at a discount rather than the 'pro' edition being sold at a premium.

However, your rant would be better placed in one of the windows newsgroups.
