Gotcha. It's pretty poor form, but I've attached a .reg I hand-generated

I apologize for my English grammar and undubious posting.
It was pretty late and i wanted to go to sleep.

I have this unsolved case of not being able to view embedded WM players
that have the older Classid.

My registry has been screwed somehow.
For what i understand ive had the older player open while ive installed
a newer one. And i guess there are registry keyes that dont have proper permissions or owners.

Ive tried to run/register these DLLs that affect my problem, but there
are 2 DLLs i cant seem to run. Regsvr32 wmpdxm.dll and regsvr32.exe msdxm.ocx
come up with a return code 0x80020009.

Is there knowledge that what causes this, or is it a part of a bigger
problem on my PC.

Since i work in this multimedia area im forced to face this and fix it.
I know the Operating System installment is 1 possiblity, but im
willing to try to get in to the regedit again. Ive had my REGMON open while ive

Re: Embedded trouble

run these 2 DLLs, but the are quite of few keys that i cant do anything
about
in my registry. Im just not able to give them any owners.

I hope ive explained this and understood my problem.

I found the Launch.com thread, I seem to have multiple MediaPlayer
paths
in my registry with open keys (dont know what all of this means exactly).
And
i cant change the owner of them.

Re: Embedded trouble

So im still fixing this stuff.
