Looking for some help please... I need to download Windows Media Connect, but it seems to me that the only way to get it is by downloading Media Player 11. However, when I try to download Media Player 11, I am not allowed because I have Windows XP Media Center 2004. Media Player 11 requires Media Center 2005.

Yep.

Is there a way I can get Windows Media Connect other than by downloading Media Player 11?

Yep. Have a look over the readme / FAQ first
<http://www.microsoft.com/windows/windowsmedia/devices/wmconnect/>

Then you can directly download if from here :

 BE QUICK because the file itself might be removed soon, without explanation : I'd have suggested the Microsoft pages. However the download was pulled sometime between the 7th November and now. It was
<http://www.microsoft.com/downloads/details.aspx?familyid=e93a0ba1-1206-4df5-a3e7-f076691261ef&displaylang=>

Google still has the page in the cache

But the real page says "The download you requested is unavailable. If you continue to see this message when trying to access this download, go to the "Search for a Download" area on the Download Center home page." – of course, searching for this file leads to no results.
