If you plug the MP3 player into your USB port, don't let WMP synchronize to start – it may wipe out your MP3s, I don't know for sure; I'm just suggesting the cautious approach. Instead, go to My Computer in Windows Explorer. You should see a drive there for your MP3 player. You can simply copy the files to your My Music folder (or create subfolders under My Music) and WMP should pick them up.

I used Real Player to buy songs and put them on my MP3 player, but now I want to use Windows Media Player to play them on my computer. How can I move my songs FROM the mp3 player TO my computer's hard drive (my music folder) or directly into the Windows Media Player?
