

Re: Outlook 2003 addin deployment problem

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Office/microsoft.public.office.developer.com.add_ins/2005-08/msg00040.html

- From: "Roger Wang" <yibow82@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 3 Aug 2005 23:43:36 +1200
-

Halmut,

I am VERY foggy on what you have suggested. I have tried creating an MSI for my program but within Orca, under properties I cannot find the ALLUSERS field. Also, can you give me some links to articles that talk about how to deploy the security settings and registry key for outlook?

Thanks in advance.

Roger

"Helmut Obertanner" <HelmutObertanner@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:C6A80BCD-A356-4CD2-884E-B85D9F55686B@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

> Yes, exactly.

>

> --

> Helmut Obertanner

> Technical Consultant

> Softwaredevelopment

> DATALOG Software AG | Zschokkestr. 36 | D-80687 Munich

>

> ... and IT works!

>

>

>

> "joel" wrote:

>

>> Would it be correct to say that you have to implement an Outlook Security

>> Settings public folder and install the Outlook Security template to use

>> CheckAdminSettings registry key?

>>

>>

>>

>> "Helmut Obertanner" <HelmutObertanner@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in >> message news:762F036C-720B-4581-8AEC-398420CC7D11@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

>>> Hello Roger,

>>>

>>> you could patch the .msi file.

>>> use the "orca" tool from Windows SDK and add the Property

>>> "ALLUSERS=1" to the .msi file.

Re: Outlook 2003 addin deployment problem

>>> Then install your AddIn as Administrator.
>>> (or deploy with SMS or AD)
>>>
>>> Also use a policy to deploy the security settings and the registry key >>> for >>> that.
>>> (CheckAdminSettings)
>>>
>>> I don't know if it helps for a VB created setup solution,
>>> but for a .Net this does the trick.
>>>
>>> Hope this helps,
>>>
>>> regards
>>> --
>>> Helmut Obertanner
>>> Technical Consultant
>>> Softwaredevelopment
>>> DATALOG Software AG | Zschokkestr. 36 | D-80687 Munich
>>>
>>> ... and IT works!
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> "Roger Wang" wrote:
>>>
>>>> Hi,
>>>>
>>>> I have encountered a problem with Outlook 2003 addin installation, on >>>> which
>>>> I have been stuck for days.
>>>>
>>>> The problem is:
>>>> I have created a very simple addin for Outlook using VB6. The addin is >>>> as >>>> simple as just showing a message box when outlook starts up. I >>>> register
>>>> this >>>> addin using regsvr32, or Visual Studio Installer, or Visual Studio
>>>> .NET
>>>> Setup Project (have tried everything). The program runs fine on the >>>> same >>>> account. But if I log off and log back on to the same machine using a >>>> different account, say a normal user account (no admin rights), then >>>> the >>>> addin just disappears. I cannot even find it in the COM Addin list >>>> within
>>>> Outlook, nor can I manually add it from within Outlook.
>>>>
>>>> From what I've heard, this may be just to do with Outlook 2003? Or is >>>> the

Re: Outlook 2003 addin deployment problem

>> >> solution moving from VB6 to .NET?
>> >>
>> >> Thanks
>> >> Regards
>> >> Robert
>> >>
>> >>
>> >>
>>
>>
>>

• Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: Outlook 2003 addin deployment problem
◇ From: Helmut Obertanner

• References:

- ◆ Outlook 2003 addin deployment problem
◇ From: Roger Wang
- ◆ RE: Outlook 2003 addin deployment problem
◇ From: Helmut Obertanner
- ◆ Re: Outlook 2003 addin deployment problem
◇ From: joel
- ◆ Re: Outlook 2003 addin deployment problem
◇ From: Helmut Obertanner

- Prev by Date: Re: Enable/disable context menu items – URGENT
- Next by Date: getting the path of the add-in dll -- error casting addInInst
- Previous by thread: Re: Outlook 2003 addin deployment problem
- Next by thread: Re: Outlook 2003 addin deployment problem
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread