

microsoft.public.office.misc: Re: Once downloaded, how do I save and use calendars and journals?

Re: Once downloaded, how do I save and use calendars and journals?

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Office/microsoft.public.office.misc/2005-01/3126.html>

From: Dian Chapman, MVP, MOS (dian_at_mousetrax.com)

Date: 01/29/05

Date: Sat, 29 Jan 2005 00:31:43 GMT

On Sat, 29 Jan 2005 00:02:41 -0000, "Miss Perspicacia Tick"

<misstick@lancre.dw> wrote:

I've been a Microsoft MVP since 1995 and I've been posting in these Newsgroups since they started...and before that in the Microsoft Compuserve forums.

If you have a problem with my posts, feel free to report me to Microsoft. Seeing that you are probably the rudest, most obnoxious poster in these groups these days, I'm sure they'd love to hear from you.

Cheers!

Dian D. Chapman, Technical Consultant
Microsoft MVP, MOS Certified
Editor/TechTrax Ezine

Free Tutorials: <http://www.mousetrax.com/techtrax>

Free Word eBook: www.mousetrax.com/books.html

Optimize your business docs: www.mousetrax.com/consulting

Learn VBA the easy way: www.mousetrax.com/techcourses.html

>

>Remind me why you were made MVP (if, indeed, you really are – I have been >posting in these groups since Office 95 and I've never seen you – and you >have to be present and posting for a substantial period of time before you're >awarded)? You don't even state what your area of expertise is – it certainly >isn't Office! Templates downloaded from the Office site aren't automatically >saved, you have to physically save them (try it!) Now will you cease and >desist in posting such inane garbage! If you're the quality of MVP MS are >awarding these days, then the programme has really lost all credibility.

>

>A Google search shows me that you've been posting for a year at most and >your 'advice' is suspect at best. At worst it's complete and utter garbage, >for want of a better word.

>

Re: Once downloaded, how do I save and use calendars and journals?

microsoft.public.office.misc: Re: Once downloaded, how do I save and use calendars and journals?

>--

>Facon – the artificial bacon bits you get in Pizza Hut for sprinkling >on salads.

>

>

>