Allan

I believe that the trial version makes it quite clear how to 'convert' to full working version.. I suspect that the OP wanted a new 'trial' key to avoid having to pay for the full version..

Milly also reserves the right to refuse e-mail from people that she does not know, and she has every right to do this in light of the problems that can be encountered these days..

If you have anything constructive for the OP that you consider would be more help than Milly's contribution, please feel free to post it.. Milly and I will be quite happy to 'look and learn'..
