

Outlook rule for message header

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Office/microsoft.public.office.misc/2005-12/msg01289.html>

- From: "Vlado Sloboda" <sloboda@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 30 Dec 2005 13:19:14 +0100
-

Hi! I have two colleagues e-mail accounts redirected to my e-mail in our company.

For example somebody send e-mail to xy@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx and e-mail server redirects this e-mail to my address myaddress@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx I don't know how can I define the rule, because getting information from TO or CC box is not a solution, because if somebody send one e-mail to me and person XY, I recieved this e-mail twice and I want to separate them and in TO box are both of address.

In message header is part "X-Original-To: " where is the original recipient address, but I don't know how can I define rule for it.

-
- Prev by Date: Changing the default Contacts folder to that in the 'current' pst file
 - Next by Date: Re: Office XP Service Pack 3
 - Previous by thread: Changing the default Contacts folder to that in the 'current' pst file
 - Next by thread: Re: how do i activesync my calander to my ipaq
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread