If you are having trouble with large internet downloads, your best bet is contacting your ISP, and/or posting your question in the group for your operating system.

I just tried to download Office 2007 free trial, after it downloading for 2 hours, I got a final message to say that it was cancelled by the user. Has anyone else had this happen? I had a look on my computer and it's just not there. By the way I have Vista. Can anyone help please?
