I am having problems with using outlook 2003 with an add-on which allows me to download messages from Hotmail.

When I use outlook to download the messages from Hotmail, it is fine, but when I accidentally moved the messages from the inbox to another inbox, the messages from Hotmail's website disappear.

I have managed to get back some of the messages back onto the website, but I have over 1000 messages I want back on the Hotmail website.

Can anyone help me on this issue.
