

Re: Open a PowerPoint PPT file in IE without it opening in Slide show mode

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Office/microsoft.public.powerpoint/2004-06/2046.html>

From: David M. Marcovitz (marcoNOSPAM_at_loyola.edu)

Date: 06/17/04

Date: Thu, 17 Jun 2004 09:17:48 -0700

When posting presentation to a Web site for downloading, I prefer to compress into a .zip file. This avoids them being opened as a show, and it allows me to make available all the associated files (videos, sounds, etc.) at the same time.

--David

--

David M. Marcovitz, Ph.D.

Director of Graduate Programs in Educational Technology

Loyola College in Maryland

Author of Powerful PowerPoint for Educators

<http://www.loyola.edu/education/PowerfulPowerPoint/>

"Jon Deere" <anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in news:1e0f401c45485$cala20b0$a001280a@phx.gbl:

> I have a PowerPoint Presentation that I want people to > download from a web site and modify to their desire. When > I do this, PPT always opens in Slide show mode which won't > allow them to edit it. Is there language I can put on the > hyperlink that will open this in normal view mode as > opposed to slide show mode?
>
> Thanks.....
>