Thanks for your help on this folks.

I've installed Office service pack 1, and the ATI driver from the Dell website (that was another minor nightmare).

Still no luck with getting the thumbnails to update automatically. I need to click in the laptop screen, then restart the slide show, so that's not so good.

In the meantime, I've been playing with PowerShow, hoping that it might prove useful, but as one reader recently put it, I may have just loaded (sorry to be crude) 'one more piece of crap software on top of another'.

Finally, my laptop will not allow me to format the size of the font in my notes pane even in design view – any thoughts?
