There could be a couple of reasons, but you haven't provided enough information. The length of the path to the file can be a problem. If it exceeds 128 characters (approx.) it may not play. The solution is to move the file to some place with a really short path, e.g. C:\Test and then delete and re-insert it in PowerPoint and test it.

On the other hand, since we don't know what type of music files (i.e. the format) these are, the ones that don't play may not be compatible with your system or your version of PowerPoint. You'll just need to give us more info. Since we can't see your system and can't watch what you're doing, talk to us like idiots who need a full education. <G>
