

Re: Repeating an animation sequence

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Office/microsoft.public.powerpoint/2005-10/msg00769.html>

- From: "Geoff Bennett" <nospam-bennett@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 22 Oct 2005 17:36:46 +0100
-

Thanks Echo, I'll check that out.

"Echo S" <echos@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message

news:OmVJw\$k1FHA.2792@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

> Unfortunately, PPT's animation doesn't allow the user to loop a sequence > of > animations. You'll have to use a third-party program --- Chirag Dalal has > created some very cool animations, though, and fade in/fade out is one.

> <http://officeone.mvps.org/anims/anims.html>

>

> ---

> Echo [MS PPT MVP]

> <http://www.echosvoice.com>

>

>

> "Geoff Bennett" <nospam-bennett@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message

> news:##WsWih1FHA.664@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

>> Comrades,

>> I tried to post this question a few days ago with a small example PPT > file, >> but I guess the newsgroup doesn't allow attachments. So here goes with a >> verbal explanation.

>>

>> Powerpoint 2003, SP1 on Windows XP, SP2. I'm using Powerpoint itself, >> and >> have no need to display slides on the viewer. I understand how to repeat > an >> individual customer animation (eg. "repeat until end of slide"). I also >> understand how to apply entrance, emphasis and exit effects to an object

> in >> sequence.

>>

>> What I can't get working is to repeat a sequence of an entrance and exit >> effect, for a single object, until the end of the slide. I've tried > adding >> delays and playing with the duration of the effect but without success.

>>

>> The example file I tried to post earlier this week showed a rectangle

Re: Repeating an animation sequence

>> with > a >> diagonal, 2-colour fill (red to yellow). I created a second rectangle of >> the same size with the opposite fill (yellow to red). The second > rectangle >> is placed exactly over the first.
>>
>> There is no animation effect applied to the first rectangle, but I would >> like the second rectangle to fade in and out, in and out, and so on until >> the end of the slide.
>>
>> This particular transition sequence could be used to highlight heated > areas >> on a technical diagram. For example a vertical section through a >> furnace,
>> or nuclear reactor showing the hot areas.
>>
>> Any ideas?
>>
>> Cheers,
>> Geoff
>>
>>
>
>

• References:

- ◆ Repeating an animation sequence
◇ From: Geoff Bennett
- Prev by Date: Re: POWER POINT EFFECTS
- Next by Date: Re: Can I put a page from the internet on a powerpoint slide?
- Previous by thread: Repeating an animation sequence
- Next by thread: Re: fading in AND out of pictures in Powerpoint
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread