PPT 2007 handles this differently than previous versions, Maureen. That's why it seems different to you.

Echo

Thanks for that. When I read the other responses I did feel bit of a fool! Still being a relative newbie and not having been around on this site since mid July, I thought I would try to be clever ;-)

By the way I have just read the thread about Australian Thanksgiving and thought it was so funny. Certainly lightens things up if you are feeling a little bit over awed with PowerPoint. I read all the postings even though I don't know what half of them mean, perhaps a little bit of the information I read about may just come to the front when needed.

Now I have to remember how I managed to accomplish what I had been able to achieve prior to mid July when my world appeared to go upside down (not in Australia HA HA) with health problems. Think it's old age and poverty !!

Love this group.

Echo thanks again for response.
