I have tried to open the copied pst file which by default was named back up. When I click on open the pc can't find a program on pc to open it. What I am trying to do is copy my outlook calendar and contacts from an old computer which uses win 95 to a new office calendar which uses win xp. If you could please explain to me step by step how to accomplish this I would be very grateful I spent 5 hr trying to complete this last night I just confused myself even more. Please help. Mike
