

Attachments removed from outgoing emails

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Outlook/microsoft.public.outlook.configuration/2006-10/msg00006.html>

- From: DR <davrigh@xxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 21 Oct 2006 18:11:04 GMT
-

Since installing Office 2003 (with Outlook -- replacing Outlook Exp.), any attachment that I send with outgoing email is stripped from the message before it reaches the destination. The Sent box shows each message with its attachment still in appended.

I've tested this with the Symantec internet security software both on and off (no change), and my ISP Help has been of no use. (The folks in India simply don't understand what's happening.)

This scenario is true on all three machines, all running Outlook 2003, that share my wireless network and the DSL hub. (I made no changes on the configuration of the hub's firewall, and no other changes on any machine, except installation of Office 2003.)

Thanks for suggestions.

DR

.