Hoping someone can help me. On my old computer, when I started an email, the name appeared from my Contact list (or a list appeared and I chose one)...

I have copied the database file of Contacts and all the name are in there. I have approx 6 different groups.

When I am using my new computer, the email will not automatically fill in the name for me. I did already check the setting for that feature but it does not work. Any hints? I have found that once I manually typed in the names, they are remembered for the next time, but I have hundreds of contacts..

Any help would be greatly appreciated!
