

Re: Using Word as Email Editor cause a fault

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Outlook/microsoft.public.outlook.general/2004-05/3709.html>

From: Rob Schneider (rmschne_at_removetheones_b1e1e1b.net.net)

Date: 05/23/04

Date: Sun, 23 May 2004 15:34:29 +0100

I'm not aware of this issue caused by SP3, but maybe. I searched Microsoft Knowledge base for "program trying to access email address office xp" and found nothing about a patch on this.

However, the symptom you report is sometimes caused by computer viruses.

So it would be prudent for you to check your machine with anti-virus and spy-bot detection software.

You can also do more searching on Microsoft's download site for the patch you are seeking. Sorry, but I can't spot it for you.

Hope this is useful to you. Let us know.

rms

Batmancd wrote:

> Hello all,

>

> I know this is a simply fix, I am using word as my email editor, and have for a long time. I updated to SP3 and now have this issue which I know was fixed by a patch a while back. Can anyone help?

>

> Error: a program is trying to access the e-mail addresses you have stored in outlook. Do you want to allow this? (with a yes or no button) pressing either one allows access.

>

>

> Thank you,

>

> Batmancd